BASEMENTS DELUGED AS PIPE BREAKS

Manhole at 12th and Broadway Blown Off; Stream Is Sent Many Feet Into Air as Weak Conduit Gives Way

Fire Department Kept Busy Pumping Out Cellars, Cars Are Halted While Debris Is Cleared From the Tracks

Thousands of gallons of rushing water impelled by the force of bursting main at Twelfth street and Broadway early this morning flooded the basements of more than a score of mercantile establishments in the heart of Oakland's downtown business district washed away several cellar walls extinguished lights or blocks around tied up street car service on Twelfth street and finally cutting several subterranean passages under the street intersection tore two great holes in the pavement of the city block and caused damage put at approximately $75,000.

The break in the main was caused officials of the City Water Company said today, by wear on the pipe caused by dripping water in a sewer manhole through which the pipe ran. The Chief Elliot Whitehead who supervised the work of more than 50 men in pumping the water from the basements said this afternoon that the situation was well in hand and that by night the basements of the stores would be practically dry. As the result of pumping all day by fire engines and equipment of the water department early this afternoon there was less than a foot of water remaining in the cellars.

Street car service on Twelfth street which had been discontinued because of the fear that the water might have undermined the sewer manhole at the intersection of the street and Broadway and hundreds of laborers were at work clearing away the debris on the streets and draining out the water by noon workmen of the water company had repaired the main and water was again turned on.

The break in the main occurred shortly before 3 o'clock this morning. With a report like that of a cannon, the water burst out of the manhole at the center of the intersection of the streets was lifted into the air and a column of water spouted several feet into the air.

The water poured from the main by the breakage quickly filled the hole in which the pipe was laid and overflowed flooding the street corner. Then more water was forced in by the force of the water under the pavement lifting several passages beneath the asphalt and through walls in the basements of the stores.

Several persons were believed to be trapped in burning buildings and every available derrick and crane in the city and its environs has been rushed to the scene.

Bar Firearms From Mails Is Anderson Plan

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Action designed to bolster the Clear bill preventing the sale of small firearms in California has been offered by the bill by Senator P. Anderson of Oakland, who would memorialize Congress to prevent the carrying of such arms into the state in the mails.

The Clear bill, it has been held, is handicapped by the fact that mail order houses and others could sell revolvers in California and that the restriction of sales here would not accomplish the full purpose of the act. The Anderson resolution has the support of Clear, and all of those who are working for the bill.

Job-Holder Lobby To Get Busy Soon

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—The controversy now raging over the proposed increase in the tax rate of the public utilities may be only a warm-up compared to the one which threatens over the new efficiency and economy plans of the administration. A report was in circulation today that already a working force of 50 members had been perfected in the Assembly and that it was prepared to throw its full weight behind an attack which Assemblyman Edgar S. Hurley of Alameda intends to launch against the governor's scheme.

It is the situation in the Senate cannot be determined because that body has been in the throes of the tax battle for the last day and night. But enough has been said during the arguments on the tax increase to justify the belief that Joseph Rominger who has been a source of strength to the tax opponents will take on an important role in a fight for right and economy.

The second session of the legislature will probably witness the greatest lobby that has ever been in attendance at Sacramento. All those officials whose duties have been stripped of jobs and the friends of these groups are scheduled to put in an appearance and work against the administration. The lobby is represented in the opposition to the public utility increases yet the lobby which comes to plead for jobs will be ten times more articulate.

Bill Is Aimed at Rent Profiters

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—A bill aimed at rent profiteers was introduced in the Assembly yesterday by Assemblyman William Hornblower of San Francisco.

The bill aims at apartment houses and flats public utilities and places them under the jurisdiction of the State Railroad Commission. It affects any tenement apartment of five or more duplex building situated in any city of a population of 250,000 or more.

It requires that the owners or lessors of such buildings must make application before the Railroad Commission before making an increase in rent.

The penalty for violation is liability for damages double the amount of overcharge plus attorney's fees.

Measure Aims at Rich Draft Evader

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Senator W. H. Duncan of Oroville expects another war bill at least he prepared for one.

Duncan introduced a bill aimed at rich draft evaders. He says that rich men married rich women and slipped out of military service on the plea that they must support their wives. Duncan's bill would provide that wealthy parents of either the man or woman must support the wife when the husband is at war.

Stronger Economy Plan Than Governor's May Be Advocated by Solons

By AD SCHLESER

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—With the governor's message but one day old, the legislature is already engaged in the question of raising the tax rate of the public utilities. It is not yet time for a close scrutiny of the administration's economy and efficiency program.

It is significant that immediately after the message was released a statement was spread in both houses that Will Fisher of the Taxpayers' Association had announced that he was satisfied with the governor's message and would not oppose the bills before it.

WILL FISHER MORE

I spoke to him at the most active men in the reorganization group and found none who would say he was satisfied with the plan as presented. All felt it was a plan that they were given more time for a study before they were quoted. The general criticism was that while the administration plan does away with 200 offices it creates others and that there are many cuts that should be made that are not contemplated. It is estimated by one man close to the administration that the measure forced by the governor would save $300,000 a year. Those who are for a stronger plan say that it should be never $3,000,000.

It would appear almost certain that a second bill will be introduced if the taxpayers' association does not present its measure—and most likely it will. It is likely that it will introduce it by the time the legislature adjourns their will be a whole month's time in which to study it. It is no wonder that some of the members refuse to express an opinion when they have seen but a message describing one of the plans.

DEBATE KICKS IN

The debate on the tax question in the Senate revealed some light on the economy fight. Senator James C. McLaughlin of the revenue committee surprised his colleagues when he said in reply to Senator Loring that he would like to see the tax rate raised to 10 percent. He said he was as much as anyone and that he was for the measure. He said he was for the measure brought before us today by the governor. Senator McLaughlin is another who expressed his belief.

He told me that he wanted an all year measure and that while a change was being made through one should result. Senator McLaughlin and Assemblyman George Hume are others who are not satisfied that the governor's plan is strong enough and that Hurley and C. C. Johnson are in the same class.

ALAMEDA COUNTY AD VALOREM TAX SHARE FIGURED

Estimate Is $665,827.80 If Proposed Unitaries Raise Is Defeated

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—If the ad valorem tax is imposed in Alameda county, the share of the county's share will be $665,827.80.

These figures, compiled in the county comptroller's office, are based on the 1919-20 figures. They are based on the 1919-20 figures. They are based on the 1919-20 figures. They are based on the 1919-20 figures.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Efforts to have the highway commission approved a plan to improve the stretch of road between the city of Alameda and the city of Fremont. The plan is to have the highway commission approved a plan to improve the stretch of road between the city of Alameda and the city of Fremont.

PRISONER SUSPECTED

It is said that some powerful pressure to lift this resolution in committee has been brought to bear and that some more or less prominent politician is interested in the matter. The information that will be disclosed is said to show among other things that one man is drawing in attorney's salary some $10,000 a year. It is also said that two men in his office are also attorneys for the state. Some others are not anxious to have it known how much their incomes are indebted to the state's salary roll.

Senator C. C. Johnson promises that the finance resolution will be on some day.

The fight on the tax question has drawn a line. It is said that the result will be in no end of complications. Some of which may be resolved in the reorganization fight. It is said that the reorganization fight has been so bitter a struggle in years and that there has not been so powerful a lobby present since the old railroad days.

GAS RATE NOT SAVE VALLEY CO. High Protective Tariff, Consumption Tax Levy Urged by Leslie M. Shaw

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury under President Roosevelt, in discussing the present taxation situation, advocates: A high protective tariff. Levying of a consumption tax. Refusal to refund any of the public debt at this time. Shaw's views, as prepared by him in an exclusive article, follow: By LESLIE M. SHAW. (Copyright, 1921, by the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Taxes, chargeable to overhead expense, necessarily add to the cost of production and unless some equivalent benefit results, other than the revenue itself, they might better be assessed against the consumer in the first instance. If this be correct in principle, then excess profits should be abolished.

Excess profits taxes have indirectly, if not directly, added more to the cost of living than any other single factor. Not only are they pyramided and passed on to the consumer, but the ease with which this is accomplished naturally invites profiteering.

NO ANSWER

There is no answer to the logic of a consumption tax, unpopular though it may seem, until understood. Suppose the cost of distribution and production of shoes had been kept at their minimum and a tax of even 1 per cent imposed upon the final sale. The consumer would think of one-quarter of 1 per cent—our $20 shoes would have been kept under $22, and the retailer, having escaped the excess profits taxes would be disposed to buy a slight portion of the consumption tax of 1.25, the same saving to the consumer and the same increase in public revenue would result from nearly everything that produces a consumption tax.

Patrons of Hotel

A quantity of waste paper at the base of a chute in the Hotel Royal, Twentieth and Grove streets, took fire today, causing large volumes of smoke to pour out of the openings to the chute on every floor.

A fire alarm turned in by a Yachtman, who was in the hotel, resulted in the fire being quickly extinguished by the fire department. The loss was slight.
